MOTIVATION LETTER

Dear Members of the Selection Committee,

I would like to apply for a position in the Doctoral Students' Self-Government (DÖK) at the Hungarian University of Sports Science (HUSS).

As an international doctoral student and Stipendium Hungaricum scholar, I have experienced both the academic opportunities and the challenges of living and studying in Hungary. I would like to join DÖK to help international students become more involved in university life and feel more connected to the HUSS community.

Supporting International Students

Studying in another country involves more than academic work. International students also need to deal with everyday life, university administration, and official procedures in Hungary. These can be challenging, especially for those who are not familiar with the Hungarian language or system.

If elected, I hope to serve as a communication bridge between international students, DÖK, and the university. I would like to help students find reliable information, identify the right contacts, and communicate common concerns to the relevant university departments. This support could cover both university matters and everyday administrative challenges outside the university.

My Experience and Contribution

Having studied at HUSS for several years, I understand university life from an international student's perspective. I am also a Student Mentor for Statistics for the 2026/2027 academic year. Through my academic and student activities, I have learned the importance of communication, cooperation, and supporting fellow students.

My Motivation

I hope to contribute to a university environment where international and Hungarian doctoral students can communicate, support each other, and work together. I believe international students should not feel like temporary visitors, but should have the opportunity to become active members of the HUSS community.

I would be glad to bring my experience, international perspective, and willingness to help to DÖK. Most importantly, I am ready to listen to other students and work together to improve our doctoral student community.

Thank you for considering my application.

Yours sincerely,

Mu, I-Jung
